MUDA started a class for MUDA committees to upgrade and improve their productivity. Session was facilitated by Honorable Secretary, Mr Andy Yong. His generosity saw him took the initiative to share some ideas for with the members. The first class was offered free by Andy. He created LEAD stands for Learning, Enrichment And Development as a means of continuous learning. The first module was attended by 10 committees and members. Members immediately ask when will be the next session after the class. His training was lively and easy to understand.

Andy is a certified corporate trainer and consultant. He is also a certified behavioural consultant, NLP, Hypnotherapy and Dermatoglyphics in his capacity. His wide experience came from his entrepreneur mind. He loves to share knowledge and believe in continuous learning and taking action.

Besides training, he also does coaching and counselling for the needy people. His class is always packed with energy, fun and interactive as claimed by some of his participants.
